A Sunday Wedding.

Beaver's circle of young people has been ruthlessly broken into again by that daring little cupid and two more of our popular young folks captured as victims of his art. This time it is in the marriage of Miss Alma Kile and Harry Brown, whose wedding took place at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Leonard at high noon, Sunday November 10th, 1907, Rev. Leonard officiating. This young couple are both popular and worthy young people of Beaver. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Kile, of our city, and has grown to womanhood here and in this immediate vicinity. Her friends who know her best praise her for her womanly qualities and know her as an accomplished young lady.

The groom is one of Beaver county's most worthy young men. He possesses those characteristics which causes his friends to speak of him as an energetic and reliable man. He is a blacksmith by trade having been employed in D. M. Kile's shop for some time past. He might be called something of a diplomat, for while he make the sparks fly for the father he also played at another game of "sparks" in the father's household and proved himself an adept at the trade by carrying off the prize. The many friends join the HERALD in heartfelt congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life.

Little Miss Entertains.

Little Miss Lenore Long entertained her baby friends at a party given in honor of her fifth birthday, Tuesday afternoon.

The little tots enjoyed themselves with dolls and toys from four till six p. m., when a dainty lunch was served. The room was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the table bore an immense birthday cake decorated with five burning candles denoting the age of the little Miss.

Each little guest was given a white heart daintily tied with pink ribbon and bearing little Miss Lenore's picture, as a souvenir of the occasion. Lenore received many cute little remembrances and it would be hard to tell which little heart rejoiced the more, the giver or the recipient.

It was indeed a happy occasion for the little tots, and one which will be remembered for nothing is more cherished in the heart of a child than those birthday occasions which seem too long in coming in childhood but which speed only too fast in after years.

No Market for Cotton.

Advices received from foreign markets report no sale for cotton. Cotton growers in this vicinity would do well to house their cotton and keep it in good condition and there is sure to be a demand as soon as money matters loosen up.

The Beaver Gin & Milling Company are buying no cotton and there is no sale for the product in Beaver. The gin will not be opened up for sometime yet and will only run when there is enough cotton on hand to justify firing up.

The better plan is to keep your cotton at home until the market opens up.

To Our Customers.

Owing to the change we expect to make in our business January 1st, 1908, we are going to ask all customers to help us out during the month of December, by paying CASH for all merchandise.

Please consider this as a business proposition as we MUST have the money for everything that month.

Do not hesitate to send us checks to apply on your account if you have your money in the bank, as we are prepared to take care of all checks with great pleasure.

Robs Chicken Roost.

Some man, beast or Devil, probably the latter, visited the chicken roost at J. R. Quinn's farm one day recently and proceeded to carry off the entire flock. The only wonder is that he left the roost. The thief came in the night with his wagon and scooped every feathered critter of them.

Mr. Quinn moved to town several weeks ago but left the chickens at the farm until he could prepare a place for them. Some kind (?) friend relieved him of the burden also Mrs. Quinn of her summer's wages.

Kansas Not In It.

The Liberal News was bragging last week about a Kansas farmer bringing a big turnip to that sanctum "which weighed three pounds." Go 'way back and sit down, Mr. Kansas Farmer. Beaver county farmers produce the eight pound variety of turnips and this wasn't a very good year for turnips either.

Gets Judgment for Damages.

In the case of O. W. Hoskins vs. Otto Lohstroh, a case in which the defendant was sued for damages on account of his stock destroying the plaintiff's crops and which came up for hearing in probate court Monday. A verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff and judgment for $50.00 damages and costs was rendered.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary also Mr. Thomas' birthday anniversary, Monday by a dinner to which only the immediate family were guests. The occasion was a happy one and pleasantly marks another important milestone in their matrimonial journey. May they be spared to celebrate many more like occasions and may each occasion be as pleasant as the one just recorded.

Interest Growing.

The promotion work of the Beaver Valley & Northwestern railroad is progressing nicely. Many of the farmers, who at first were indifferent or hostile to the project, have, after a thorough consideration of the proposition, become very active in pushing the work. Meetings were held last week at Hibbs, Brown school house and Calleyville, and others will be held next Saturday at the South Flats school house and next Monday at Elmwood. Arrangements will be made for meetings in other parts of the county.

Beets! Well, We Should Remark.

Walter Allen has everyone else "skinned a mile" when it comes to raising big beets.

He came in Monday and remarked that he'd like to "beet" that turnip record. He "beet" it all right by producing a mammoth beet which he had tucked away in his vest pocket. The beet weighed 17 pounds, measured 2 feet, 3 inches from tip to tip and 1 foot 9 inches around the largest part. It was certainly a huge specimen and shows what Beaver county lowlands are capable of producing. By-the-way, it also shows that we have some real farmers among our young men. Walter undoubtedly knows how to do the gardening act.

Socially and Financially A Success.

The Box Supper which was given Monday night by the Beaver school was a most pleasant occasion and a decided success from a financial standpoint.

A very good program was rendered by the pupils of the school together with a reading by Prof. Fickie and music by Miss Mae Maple and the male quartette composed of Messrs. Edwards, Bulick, Lightfoot and Fickie. After the program Auctioneer Barrow knocked off the boxes to the highest bidder and the good round sum of $52.50 was realized which will materially aid in defraying the indebtedness on the piano.

The faculty are well pleased with the evening's proceeds and with such substantial assistance as they received expect to soon have the piano fully paid for.

George House Dead.

We are informed this week of the sad news of the death of George House, which occurred at Hooker, Saturday. Death was due to typhoid fever and he was only ill about two weeks. His mother, Mrs. James House, of Golden, passed through Beaver Monday of last week enroute to the bedside of her sick son. She returned home Tuesday, she having done all a mother's love could do to nurse her child back to health but in vain. Burial was made at Hooker Sunday.

The news of this death is particularly sad to the writer on account of the fact that George was formerly an employee of this office, having held a position here for about a year. He was a model young man and one full of energy, never afraid of doing a thing too well but always anxious to do everything well. It is indeed with sadness that we chronicle his passing away.

His many friends here will also regret to read of his untimely demise and join us in extending sympathy to the members of that home that has been robbed of a loved one.

Just a moment, Brother! Notwithstanding there is a big money panic on the taps, W. L. Detwiler, The Land Man; has lots of good money to loan on good farms. Money ready the same day the papers are signed up. Write W. L. Detwiler, The Land Man, Knowles, Okla.

Ripley Declares Santa Fe Will Not Build in Oklahoma.

Shawnee, Okla., Oct. 25.—"There will not be a mile of new railroad built in the new state by the Santa Fe in the near future. The attitude of Oklahoma as reflected in the constitution is against railroad interests.

"We do not intend to build under such circumstances and even if we could get the money, we would not use it. I believe that Oklahoma has set herself back ten years by adopting the constitution.

Such was the positive statement given here today by President Ripley, of the Santa Fe. Mr. Ripley was bitter in his denunciation of the sections of the constitution applying to the fellow servant, the court provision, the authority vested in the Railroad Commissioner and the 2-cent passenger rate.

The Ripley special left for the south after an inspection of the company property here.

The above telegram appeared in all the daily papers a few days ago. It is but a reiteration of similar statements made recently by Mr. Ripley and other railroad presidents.

It is not only a plain statement of the fact that the Santa Fe will refuse to build new lines in Oklahoma for many years to come but it is also an acknowledgment of the fact that the money cannot be secured.

It is therefore a foregone conclusion that all other roads now projected in Oklahoma and dependent on eastern capital for their construction, will have to be abandoned.

Confronted by these conditions there is no hope whatever for Beaver county to get a railroad within its borders in the near future. There is only one way out of the situation, that of building a railroad by the co-operation of all our people and it is for that purpose that the Beaver Valley and Northwestern was recently organized.

While we understand that the financial condition of most of our people is such as to make it in convenient to invest in railroad stock, yet, considering the loss of time and constant expenses incident to the marketing of farm products, no sacrifice can be too big that will bring about a change by which those expenses will come to a stop or be greatly reduced.

Everybody admits that a railroad would be a good thing for Beaver county. The advantages to be gained by the people are so many that their enumeration would fill pages. Under the present conditions it costs 20 cents per bushel on wheat, $6 per ton of broom corn, $5 per ton of coal, $7 per thousand on lumber and everything else in proportion.

With a railroad in Beaver county, the current market prices would prevail here, the farmers getting the advantage of them. If a farmer now engaged in wheat raising harvests a crop of 500 bushels, which is by no means extravagant, it requires ten trips to market with four horses, absorbing not less than thirty days to do it. Under new conditions the four horses will pull 100 bushels and the return trip will be made in one day so that the entire crop can be marketed in five days. Counting five more days for rest, a luxury not known when freighting, it leaves 20 days each year he can devote in farming more acres, therefore increasing his earnings.

The prosperity attending the communities that enjoy the privileges of facilities is enough evidence that the people of Beaver county owe to themselves to get busy and fall in line in the matter of building the Beaver Valley and Northwestern Railroad.

This is not an enterprise promoted by outside men with a view of gathering donations from our people but it originated right here among us by sheer necessity of something being done in that line for our own convenience and profit.

Let us work shoulder to shoulder and make this project a success. The result will justify the effort.

Obituary.

David Barnes, born in Clay Co., Ill., May 10, 1882, filed a homestead in Beaver county, in the winter of 1885; was taken sick, Oct. 18, 1907, and after four weeks of suffering from a complication of diseases, died at 4 A. M., Nov. 9th, 1907. His funeral was preached in the church in Beaver at 2 p. m., on Sunday, Nov. 10. His remains were buried in the Beaver Cemetery to await the resurrection. On Wednesday, Oct. 28, he testified to those who prayed for him that he accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as his Savior and often spoke of him in his sickness. His father, two brothers and one sister survive him; two of whom were present at his funeral. T. B. PARAMORE.

BOYD.

DEAR EDITOR. Ye scribe has been busy "toppin" maize and kaffir corn, gathering pumpkins, corn, flower seed, beans, etc., to gather many items for our favorite paper.

Well drilling is in full blast in these parts. Harve Dowers had a well put down last week. Walt Murray is drilling himself a well this week. Mr. Reed is helping.

Wm. Murray owns and is operating a well drill about 15 miles east of here. Mr. Seward threshed his wheat this week. We didn't learn how much of a yield he secured.

Mrs. Ellen Hills of Beaver was a caller on Mrs. Mae Horn, this week. They were neighbors in Woods county for 10 years.

The school is in full blast at Pleasant Valley now. We hear some complaint of school children tampering with the mail boxes on their way to school. Parents should warn their children of the penalty of this offence.

What's become of Sis Hopkins. We enjoyed her items immensely.

Miss Minnie Rateliff who has been staying with Mrs. Anna Murray has gone to her claim north of Boyd.

MIGNON.

Floris Items.

Weather is fine and the grain and wheat sowing is again in full blast.

The two new rural routes from Floris are becoming a success and postmaster Derthick states that Floris will be made a money order office sometime in the near future.

The box supper given at New Hope school house for the benefit of the school house last Saturday night was well attended and all enjoyed a good time. Receipts of the evening were $102.65.

S. M. Craig has secured a clerkship in Mr. Derthick's general store.

Floris is going to build a new school house by popular subscription. $283 has already been subscribed for that purpose.

While out driving Mr. Derthick's turnout on a courting trip last Sunday night, Marvin Craig lost control of the team and they ran several miles and finally landed the buggy astride a wire fence, after having broken the tongue out of same, but no one was hurt and no other damage done.

South Beaver Items.

Wheat is looking fine in this neighborhood.

L. M. Larson has 45 acres of fall wheat which is looking fine.

Johnnie Johnson is still working for Mr. Flagle.

L. Henderson was hauling feed to town for F. Laughlin last week.

Broomcorn thrashing is nearly all done in this vicinity.

Jeff and Loss Henderson, L. M. Larson and family was hunting one day last week they hauled in 50 head all told.

H. P. Larson arrived last Saturday week from a months visit in Illinois. He says things look good to him where you never see wind.
